Prominent Edmontonians Meet E. A. C. Hockey Team Here Saturday

Escort Team To Edmonton

On Saturday morning several prominent citizens of Edmonton came down to Wainwright on the eleven o'clock train and paid a surprise visit to the town of Wainwright.

Among the visitors were: Mayor Daniel K. Knott, Jos. Madill, Dist. Passenger agent of the C. N. R., W. D. Munro, Gen. Supt. of the Alberta Division C. N. R., W. Walker, Supt. Motive Power and Equipment, Alberta Div., and Ken Dohlgan representing the Edmonton Athletic Club.

The object of the visit was a courtesy call on the Town & Council of Wainwright and to meet the returning Edmonton Athletic Hockey Team whose car was attached to the C. N. R. train due in Wainwright at 4 p.m. on Saturday.

The Town Fathers under the able leadership of Mayor Porter accepted the part of Host to the visitors during their stay in town. After a luncheon in the Wainwright Hotel a visit was made to many of the business places. A special meeting of the Town Council was held with the visitors as guests when a number of items of interest were discussed.

When the west bound train pulled in the E. A. C. Coach bearing the Hockey team attacked, there was about 150 local citizens on the platform to welcome the winners of the Abbott Cup, Symbolic of the Western Canadian Junior Hockey Championship, who made such a good showing in the playoffs for the Dominion title, losing only one after two extra periods to break the tie.

If the citizens of town had been notified that the team was coming through on that train a more fitting demonstration might have been staged.

Those present, however, paid their tribute in a salient, though somewhat silent way.

As the train stayed no longer than the scheduled ten minutes those happy-go-lucky lads were soon on their way home, where a royal welcome awaited them.

It is doubtful whether western Canada has previously come so close to winning the Dominion Junior

EDGERTON RIPPLES

Mr. Meade, school principal at Kinross, Alberta, has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Challenger during the Easter holidays. He returned to Kinross on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hackett, of Lamont, Alberta, are visiting with their daughter, Mrs. H. Challenger.

Mrs. Ruth Phillips, of Ribstone, is visiting at the home of Mrs. H. Challenger. A number of local ladies were entertained at the home of Mrs. Sawyer on Thursday evening last.

Mr. Poaps and Betty returned from Edmonton on Saturday, after spending the Easter holidays at the home of the former's daughter, Mrs. Nichol.

The residence occupied by Mrs. Warnock during the winter months has been moved out to the Jim Watson farm south of town.

Mr. Swindlehurst reports having had a good time during his visit to the Pacific Coast. Flowers are in full bloom, and spring is reigning supreme. Probably sometime in the not too far distant future it will visit us.

The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. A. E. Challenger on Thursday. Plans were made for renovating the local United Church.

Kalmsine and paint should greatly improve the interior appearance. Miss Dorothy Syme spent the Easter holidays at the home of Mrs. Hallett.

Mrs. Hallett was a Wainwright visitor on Tuesday.

Mr. Boyd left on Thursday for Edmonton to meet Major Douglas in the Provincial Parliament buildings.

Wedding Bells Gilt Edge Council Meeting

MILLER - KELLY

The home of Mrs. E. J. Kelly, of Placerville, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, on Wednesday afternoon, April 4th, when her only daughter, Mary Jane Swann Kelly, was united in marriage to Hugh Chalmers Miller, of Mayfield District by the Rev. W. S. Brooker, of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church at 2:30 p.m. The bride, who was given away by her mother, looked charming in French blue shot with silver tulle dress and blue hat and grey shoes. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, blue, iris and daffodils. Her bridesmaid, Miss Agnes Carrell, wore a rose pink satin dress with white hat and shoes to match and carried a bouquet of rose tulips, blue iris and daffodils. The bridegroom was ably supported by Mr. J. Donaldson.

The home was tastefully decorated for the occasion and the wedding ceremony was performed under a canopy of white ribbon work interspersed with Easter Lilies. After the congratulations had been given, the bride and groom were escorted to the Placerville School House, where they received the congratulations of the guests assembled there numbering about 60. The bride and groom sat down to a sumptuous dinner, which was enjoyed by all. The brides table was centred with a three tier wedding cake resting on white net. After dinner the bride cut her wedding cake and the toasts were received by the bride and groom from a number of guests. Assisting at the tables were Mrs. Pollard, Miss Pollard and Mrs. Carrell. The school house was tastefully decorated with blue and pink and Easter lilies. The wedding dance was at 8:00 o'clock which lasted to the wee sma' co's. Music was supplied by the McMillan Boys' Orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. Miller were the recipients of many useful presents and these will be on display at her Mother's home Tuesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will reside on the groom's farm in the Mayfield District.

SCHOOLER - EBBERN

At 10:30 a.m. on Monday, April 9th the home of Mrs. Frances Ebborn was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Gertrude, daughter of Mrs. Ebborn, became the bride of Roy Schooler, of Naco, Alberta.

The bridesmaid was Miss Grace Ebborn, sister of the bride, and the best man was Arthur Schooler, brother of the groom. The bride was dressed in a very becoming pale green travelling ensemble.

At the close of the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. G. Magnus, the friends and relatives present enjoyed a very delicious turkey dinner.

The new weds are now residing at the home of the groom's parents at Naco, after which they will reside at Barhead, Alberta.

Minutes of meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Gilt Edge No. 422, held at Wainwright at 10 a.m. on Tuesday the 3rd day of April, 1934.

Councillors present—All. Moved for Councillor Sutherland—That minutes of last meeting be adopted as read.—Carried.

AUDITOR
Moved by Councillor Traynor—That Fullerton and Co. be appointed as Auditors at a fee of $100.00, as in 1933.—Carried.

Mr. Gosselin waits on Council re relief.

Moved by Councillor Traynor—That food relief be furnished at $8.00 per month.—Carried.

Mr. J. McEwen waits on Council and asks for expenses to go to Edmonton for a Medical Examination (Metabolism Test). No action taken by District.

Secretary reports Old Age Pensions have been granted to John Hogstrom and Mrs. M. Mansfield. We find that a considerable program of drainage ditches and culverts are required.

Approximately 500 feet of culvert is urgently required. By a system of open ditches and the said culverts we believe the adequate drainage of the town can be obtained.

We purpose handling the drainage, the roads and sidewalks improvement according to a set plan. All improvements and work proposed will be of a permanent nature. The extent of work will depend entirely on the funds available but all work will be consolidated so that plan can be expanded from year to year.

We are negotiating for gravel to complete at least one block of road this year, topping it with asphalt if possible. We contemplate using a heavy grade on all our roads and scarifying the Main Street before grading.

As regards sidewalks: We purpose laying a 5 foot walk flanked with 2x6 sunk 2 and then filled with cinders. After this is packed it can be finished with an asphalt surface. Approximately $50.00 a block will complete first cost.

A complete estimate of extent of work program and funds required will be furnished later.

On motion, the report of the Committee on Public Works was accepted and incorporated in the proceedings of the meeting.

On motion, it was unanimously resolved that the Secretary-Treasurer notify Mr. E. E. Torg, drawing his pay on his lot in block 34 Plan 6445 V and requesting that he take immediate steps to remedy the condition.

The following accounts of the Wainwright Municipal Hospital District Number 17 were submitted to Council for payment, viz: Mrs. E. G. Boyd, $9.00; Roy Hurray, $9.00; and Lorne Guthrie $9.00 and $34.02.

On motion, it was resolved that the Council assume no responsibility in connection with these accounts.

Local Public Works Dept. Plan Big Program For Coming Season

Will Be A Real Asset To Town If Put Through

Following are the proceedings of the Council of the Town of Wainwright at its regular meeting in the Council Chamber of the Town of Wainwright at 8:00 o'clock p.m. on Tuesday, the 3rd day of April, 1934.

The members of Council present at this meeting were Mayor Porter and Councillors Link, Courrier, Welch, Adams and Billing.

The recorded proceedings of Council at its regular meeting of February 20th, 1934 were read and, on motion, were adopted and confirmed as written.

The Committee on Public Works reported as follows:

We have made a survey of the drainage system, the condition of the roads and side walk facilities. We find that a considerable program of drainage ditches and culverts are required.

The requisition of the Wainwright Roman Catholic Separate School District Number 31 for the year 1934 was placed before Council and, on motion, was filed pending the compiling of estimates for the current year.

Mr. E. R. Frickleton, Secretary of the Wainwright Study Club, wrote Council, requesting that Council permit the club to hold its meetings in the Council Chamber, the Club undertaking to reimburse the Town for any additional expense occasioned by such meetings and, on motion, the Mayor was authorized to appoint a committee from Council to investigate and report. The committee appointed consisted of Councillors Link, Welch and Billing.

The annual subscription notice for the Wainwright Study Club, for Municipalities was placed before Council and, on motion, it was unanimously resolved that the Town of Wainwright will not join the Union for the current year.

On motion, it was unanimously resolved that the Town of Wainwright be granted the use of the Agricultural grounds for the holding of their celebration on July 12th, 1934.

On motion, the Secretary-Treasurer was instructed to notify the owners of the several districts, offering milk or milk and cream for sale within the Town of Wainwright drawing their attention to the necessity of making written application for license and making payment of fees required under By-Law Number 203 and amendments thereto, that the matter may be adjusted before the next regular meeting of Council.

The Committee on Fire, Light and Utilities submitted the following report, viz:

We the Committee here to report as follows: That we have this day examined and tested out all fire hydrants and find each hydrant in perfect readiness in case of fire, plenty of water and pressure from all hydrants.

All other fire fighting equipment is in good order.

We recommend strongly that this Council purchase and install a new siren as our present system of alarm is obsolete and inefficient.

On motion, the report of the Committee on Fire, Light and Utilities was accepted and incorporated in the proceedings of the meeting.

The Western Economic Outlook

Writing in "Agricultural and Industrial Progress in Canada," Mr. John F. Sweeting, Industrial Commissioner, Western Lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, declares that confidence in the outlook for 1934 business is the dominant feature of the Western situation. Signs are not lacking in many parts of Canada that we are slowly emerging from the depression of the past four years. Improvement appears to be more noticeable in the Eastern parts of Canada, where some acceleration is apparent in the manufacturing industries. In the West where we depend almost entirely on agriculture, recovery will necessarily be more slow in coming. As a matter of fact we cannot hope for any great degree of prosperity whilst agriculture languishes. A good crop, fair prices for our wheat, and a market for our products are the needful factors. Mr. Sweeting says that improvement in trade, together with the realization that an upturn is now noticeable, has brought back the more satisfactory feeling that it is possible to consider that a period of trade and industrial expansion is, to a moderate degree, justified. Anticipated during the last few months, it is not difficult to venture the statement that every effort is being put forth to increase the volume of business throughout the West by methods that are most likely to react favourably.

It is, of course, too early to state what programme of new development is likely, though enquiries towards the end of last year appeared to indicate that some industrial expansion of note might take place during the present year, and that there may be more money available for building operations of all kinds. In this relation, there should certainly be a distinct improvement over 1933 if necessary requirements are to be met in the erection of houses and commercial buildings, quite apart from any factory expansion. Any programme of moderate size would soon improve the home lumber market, which has been nearly at a standstill for some time, though the export business has been showing important increases.

The mining industry is looking for a steady improvement, and activities in relation to development would show a confident outlook in this respect. In British Columbia, Manitoba and western Ontario work continues on an increasingly larger scale, which will bring some important properties into production during the present year.

The Western agricultural situation is a matter of constant study of ways and means to bring it to a more stabilized level but, in the meanwhile, the Western agriculturist is bent on carrying on with ever-improving methods in the production of grain and livestock, having in view that ultimately his returns will justify confidence in Western Canada and its products. This is considered to be a reasonable attitude that will eventually realize greater value for farm products, more especially as the major effort is towards a higher standard that will meet export market requirements. This work is already showing results that further the belief that the correct course is being followed.

In Alberta and to some extent in Saskatchewan and Manitoba, drilling for oil and gas is to be continued. The Alberta programme is to be of considerable size, according to present indications, the more southern field getting the larger share of the proposed operations.

The sodium sulphate industry of Saskatchewan increased its production during 1933, and it is anticipated other deposits will be brought into operation during the present year. The clay areas of southern Saskatchewan continue to cause interest, awaiting further development at such time that capital and growing markets are available.

The fishing industry of the inland lakes of the three Prairie Provinces is being fully investigated in order that the marketing of the products of these lakes may possibly be put on a better footing, and efforts are being made to expand the marketable areas for whitefish, as well as for other classes of fish that are available in large quantities from the fresh water lakes of the West.

Device Beats Stop-Watch

Claimed To Clock Athletes Within Hundredth Of Second

A device whereby, it is claimed, it will be possible to clock athletes within one hundredth of a second has been invented by Dr. E. I. Harrington, head of the department of physics at the University of Saskatchewan. It applies the principle of the electric clock.

The new timer is said to be 20 times more accurate than a stop-watch. It calls for a 12-toothed wheel, placed between magnets attached to Saskatchewan's electric power system. The alternating current of the system provides 120 impulses per second and the wheel would revolve 10 times a second. Each impulse moving Dr. Harrington's device contains a counter like a speedometer, attached to the wheel, which automatically records the time between two pressures on a clutch. It can be read within a tenth of a revolution.

Hillerto the physics head has used the machine in his laboratory to record the gradually decreasing energy of the radiations from radium.

Of 18 swimmers, including nine women, who attempted to swim the English channel in the summer, only one, a woman, was successful.

Saw Dreams Realized

Late Walter Wellman Made First Attempt To Fly Atlantic

The death of Walter Wellman in New York vividly-recalled to old-timers in Chicago the long, anxious days in 1909, 1910 and 1911, when they waited for news of the audacious attempts of the pioneer aviator to reach the north pole and to cross the Atlantic ocean in a lighter-than-air ship. Four times the audacious newspaper man tried to reach the north pole, twice on foot, twice by aircraft. He was the first man to attempt to cross the Atlantic by air. His aerial efforts were futile; accidents made them unsuccessful, but he lived to see the days when aircraft crossed both poles and when lighter and heavier than air craft spanned the Atlantic. His prophetic pioneering led the way.

Report Finding Of
King Solomon's Mine

Rhodesian Prospector Refuses To Give Exact Location

Finding of King Solomon's mine, search for which has caused the death of thousands has been reported by a prospector in Broken Hill, Northern Rhodesia. He declares that he discovered it while following a wounded buck, but refuses to give the exact location except that it is in the centre of a mile concession. For more than 300 years men have been searching for the legendary mine. In Solomon's day it was said to be so fabulously rich in gold that silver became of little value in his court. The search has gradually narrowed down to an area of about 250,000 square miles. A brave tortured many natives in an effort to extract information about it and many Portuguese tramped hundreds of miles in search of it.

SHE LOST 32 lbs.

New Frocks No Longer Worried Her

"How did she lose that 32 lbs. of fat?" is what you will be asking. Let her tell you herself—
"About 18 months ago I weighed 178 lbs. which can assure you annoyed me very much. Everything seemed a worry to me, especially new clothes. Nothing would fit comfortably, and walking was unbearable. I was advised by a friend to try Kruschen Salts, and I am very glad I did. In the first ten months I lost 28 lbs. of fat. Now, for the last 6 months my weight has been 140 lbs., and I feel much better in health. I have all my weight tickets to substantiate my statements."—(Mrs.) M. P. Wales Takes Canadian Steel

First Order Will Likely Be Followed By Others

Canada for the first time in her industrial history, the Guardian says, supplying South Wales with her steel in competition with the imports received from Belgium, Germany, France and Sweden.

The steamer Grey County recently arrived at Newport with 3,600 tons of Canadian steel billets and further cargoes of this product are expected.

"Although there is a heavy duty on foreign steel," the paper says, "South Wales still imports about 18,000 tons per week, which is used for conversion into tinplates. Canada recently gave an order for 100,000 boxes of Welsh tinplates and an endeavor is being made to create a reciprocal trade between South Wales and the Dominion."

Increased Demand For Rubber

Modern Motor Cars Using More Than Ever Before

The yearly output of from 30 to 40 rubber tires is required to supply tires, tubes and parts for each modern car, according to American engineers. In 1925 the average car used about 3 lbs. of rubber parts in addition to the rubber in tires and tubes, while 1933 models carry from 30 lbs. to 60 lbs. of rubber parts. More than 90 per cent. of modern cars use at least 30 lbs. to 40 lbs. of rubber made up into 11 or 12 classes of parts ranging from spark plug caps and door bumpers to torque spring insulators and engine mountings.

Fishermen Perish In Storm

Eight Hundred Lives Lost When Storm Lashes Coast

Eight hundred fishermen were drowned in China, when a storm of the coast of Kwangtung province sank 300 fishing junks.

A Chinese customs cruiser rushed to the scene and picked up a number of survivors, the reports said. Kwangtung province, lashed by a storm which was reported to have destroyed a fishing fleet, is the southern-most sea coast province of China. It is located the cities of Canton and Hong Kong, and toward the northern border is the seaport of Swatow.

Many Items Of Interest To The Western Farmer

The haricot of French bean is a native of South America, and was seen by Columbus in Cuba.

Spinach was a comparatively late arrival in Europe from Persia via the Moorish invasion of Spain.

Sugar is being made out of wood in a large-scale factory finished this year at Mannheim, Germany. At present the sugar is fed to livestock. It was not until after the civil war in the U.S. that the tomato reached the northern states, although well-known in the south.

It took 300 years to popularize the potato in Europe, and only after necessity forced the country cottager to include it among his vegetables.

The number of producing maple trees on Eastern Canadian farms is estimated at over 70,000,000, of which 24,000,000 will probably be tapped.

The cabbage in ancient Greece and Rome was regarded as a cure-all, and its power in dissipating the fumes of wine was not the least of its virtues.

A new strain of wheat which was claimed to resist extreme cold was evolved in Sweden but it was found to be susceptible to a disease to which the other types of wheat were resistant.

Judging by the course of raw sugar prices, it seems likely that sugar beet growers in Canada will receive returns per ton in 1934 at least equal to those of last fall.—The Agricultural Situation Bulletin.

Insect pests, notably the corn borer, influence the tonnage of sweet corn available for canning in Canada, but wherever this pest may reduce production in one area, the decrease may be replaced by increased plantings elsewhere.

The ultimate practical object in nutritional investigations of apple trees, as carried out at the Dominion experimental farms, is to discover methods of controlling the growth processes which determine the amount and quality of the fruit produced.

As a result of investigations at the Dominion Experimental Station at Fredericton, it has become quite apparent that the external appearance of the apple is not a reliable indication of maturity, and the necessity of obtaining some simple reliable test for maturity is emphasized.

The largest per centage increases in the Dominion canned fruit and vegetables last year occurred in the following products: Cherries, 802; spaghetti, 681; evaporated apples, 387; asparagus, 218.4; peaches, 106; peaches, 97; pears, 35.6; tomatoes and tomato products, 30; and corn, 28.9 per cent.

The actual demonstrations showing that satisfactory apple tree growth can be secured under a properly managed soil system, as originally carried out at the Dominion experimental farms and stations, have resulted in the almost universal adoption of this system of orchard management.

The tomato in its original shape was uneven and warty. After its arrival in Europe in the sixteenth century from South America, its use was confined to Spain, Portugal, and Provence. Even as late as 1870 the tomato was rare in Paris. Last year Canada exported 1,359,725 cases, tomatoes and tomato products, constituting the largest of Canada's canneries.

For the first 11 weeks of this year and last year (figures for the latter within brackets), the numbers of livestock shipped from Western to Eastern Canada were: Hogs, 87,990 (78,234); cattle, 18,554 (5,921); calves 148 (19); and sheep, 25,932 (21,480).

European Travel Costs Lower

Reduced Railway Fares As Well As Hotel Rates

Contrary to a wide-spread impression, European travel costs this year, despite foreign exchange rates, are actually lower than they were in the peak travel year of 1928, according to the Cunard & Anchor-Donaldson Lines.

This fact is revealed in the inclusive tour costs of the big travel agencies and the reduced fares on railways, automobiles and hotels. Private automobiles can be hired at a much lower price, the costs being reduced by 44% in Paris and in Rome by 46%, with comparative reductions in other countries.

Hotel rates average 36% less all over Europe than they were in 1928. In Paris the reduction is 35%, in London 21%, in Nice 26%, in Genoa 66%, in Rome 50%, in Naples 60%, in Lucerne 39%, in Interlaken 40%, in Heidelberg 25%, in Cologne 35%, in Amsterdam 41%, and in Brussels 23%.

Railway fares have been lowered in many countries. In Holland, for instance, the reduction has been as much as 22%, in France 30%, in Poland 25%, in Switzerland 30%. Taxis have come down considerably; in Amsterdam, for instance, a taxi ride, regardless of the distance covered, costs you only 27c, half as much as in 1928.

Organized sight-seeing tours in Europe are considerably reduced. In Paris, they are 25%, in Nice 28%, in London 14%, in Brussels 22%, in Rome 25%, and in Heidelberg 37% less than in 1928.

These reductions more than offset any unfavourable effect of high exchange operating in some countries.

To Assist Livestock Industry

Want Reports On Detrimental Practices Of Livestock Buyers

To assist him in the presentation of the important information respecting the livestock industry to be submitted by joint representation of the government of the prairie provinces, Hon. W. C. Buckie, minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan, is desirous of having farmers interested in the production and marketing of livestock, report any specific example of where the producer is not the recipient of full market value for his livestock due to detrimental trade practices or other defect in the present system of marketing livestock. All statements should be accompanied by documentary proof. Opinions are valuable when based upon facts, but without them, are useless in a case of this kind.

It is expected that joint representations from the prairie provinces will be submitted to the Parliamentary Committee, Ottawa, very shortly. The Livestock Associations and the Livestock Pool have been invited to present available data to Hon. Mr. Buckie to be incorporated in a joint statement on behalf of the three prairie provinces.

Depict War In Misleading Light, Says Montreal Speaker

Distribution by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire of reproductions of national war memorial pictures, some of which were said to depict war in a misleading light, showing it as something grand and glorious, came in for criticism at Montreal by Brooke Claxton, vice-president of the League of Nations Society in Canada, in an address to a women's meeting.

War memorial pictures showing the Ypres Cloth Hall in ruins and the devastation on the western front were excellent, Mr. Claxton said, while others should not be distributed. Canadian children should be brought up with thoughts of peace, he claimed, and not be "pictorially hoodwinked" into believing war a thing of glory.

Many men are following the trade after their release.

WORLD WHEAT SURPLUS SAME AS LAST YEAR

Rome.—The world carryover of wheat on August 1 will be 1,000,000,000 bushels—the same as last year—but estimates for the next crop year which starts on that date are optimistic regarding reduction of stocks and acreage.

This information was contained in a communique issued by the world wheat advisory commission after a long session devoted to reports and plans for bettering the international wheat situation by lowering supplies and encouraging consumption.

"In reviewing the prospective wheat situation," the statement declared, "the committee" was impressed by the fact that the probable increase in stocks in the principal European importing countries at the beginning of August compared to the previous year will amount to between 100,000,000 and 150,000,000 bushels.

"Despite the very short North American harvest in 1933, the probable world carryover of wheat on August 1, 1934, will be approximately the same as that of August, 1933, about 1,000,000,000 bushels."

For Canada, John I. McFarland of Winnipeg, told the 35 members representing 15 nations, that:

"Following the extensive discussion concerning the necessity for a reduction in production and the dissemination of information to farmers regarding measures to restrict sales—coupled with unfavorable natural and economic conditions for wheat feeding—it is expected the acreage seeded in Canada this spring will be sharply reduced, as much as 15 per cent."

Canada had taken definite steps to implement the London agreement, Mr. McFarland stressed. Bills had been introduced in the three prairie provinces providing enabling legislation for restriction of the quantity of wheat each farmer may sell, the extent of such restriction to be based upon the total of the Canadian export quota.

A parallel bill had been introduced in the Dominion parliament authorizing establishment of a national wheat board whereby the national and three provincial governments will take control of the entire wheat business of the country, should this become necessary.

Suffering from a nervous complaint for some time, Sato was ill when the vessel, carrying him and other members of Japan's Davis Cup team, to Europe, arrived in Singapore.

Sato disembarked, intending to return to Japan, but decided to re-embark after he had been urged to do so in telegraph messages from Japanese tennis authorities.

Rain Of Ashes Over Eastern Part Of The Island

Reykjavik, Iceland.—Eruptions of the famous Skeidararjokull Cirka volcano grew in intensity and hurled a rain of ashes over the entire part of eastern Iceland.

The rumblings, which began some time ago, became louder and could be heard distinctly up to 150 miles away.

The centre of the explosions was located beneath the Medio Vatnafoekul glacier, which is north of the Skeidarar river. The nearest village is 31 miles south of the glacier's edge.

Appeals Will Be Allowed

Cause In Manitoba's Wheat Control Bill Has Been Altered

Winnipeg.—Premier John Bracken's emergency wheat control bill passed safely through law amendments committee of the Manitoba legislature with one significant amendment. The bill now goes into committee of the whole.

The section of the wheat bill proposing orders of the wheat control board would be above any question, review or appeal in the courts was the only clause to be altered.

On the motion of Premier Bracken it was rewritten, and remodelled after the clause in Saskatchewan bill, providing for court action on the wheat board's decision only when a fiat has been obtained.

Dominion guarantee of a minimum price of wheat to the farmer while the world wheat agreement is in effect will be naked in a resolution to be moved in the legislature by Douglas Campbell, government member for Lakehead. It requests a guarantee of a minimum of 63.02 gold cents per bushel, basis No. 1 Northern grade, C.L.P. Liverpool, equivalent to 1.05% at Liverpool or 90 cents at Fort William.

Fortune Awaits Disposition

Will Covering Estate Of Fur Trader Lost Many Years Ago

Fort William.—A fortune reputed to amount to millions of dollars awaited disposition while apparent direct heirs in widely separated parts of Canada looked for developments.

The fortune consisted of the estate of James Hudson, accumulated 20 years ago in fur trading with the Indians in James Bay district.

Claimants to the fortune include Moses Frost, 63, of Port Arthur, and Mrs. John Peeyer, Vancouver. They were grandson and granddaughter respectively of the trader. The fortune is now understood to be in chancery in England.

Delay in settlement of the estate was caused because the will, written on buckskin, was lost or stolen from Mr. Frost's mother in 1867.

Manitoba Beer Bill

Sale Of Beer By Case In Licensed Hotels

Winnipeg.—After three hours' debate, the bill to amend the Government Liquor Control Act to permit beer depots for the sale of beer by the case in licensed hotels was given third reading in the Manitoba legislature.

Party lines were split on the debate with Hon. W. J. Major, attorney-general, declaring winking of the beer selling facilities was necessary in the drive to eliminate bootleggers.

The vote on a motion by George Dinsdale (Cons., Brandon) to delete the clause providing beer depots from other minor amendments was defeated 30-10. There was no record vote on third reading.

Testing Grain

Suggests Intermediate Grade For Tough Wheat

Edmonton.—Moisture content of grain, which had been the subject of an inquiry by the committee, was reported on to the agriculture committee of the legislature by A. B. Claypool, who recommended that the Canada grain board be urged to increase facilities for testing grain for moisture content and that it should fully investigate the feasibility of an intermediate grade in tough wheat and apply it if found feasible. The committee so agreed. It was pointed out that the grading and selling of grain is under federal regulation and outside the jurisdiction of the province.

Provincial Marketing Board

Alberta Bill To Give Effect To Dominion Marketing Act

Edmonton.—Implementing federal legislation, a bill to provide for the functioning of a provincial marketing board was introduced in the Alberta legislature by Premier J. E. Brownlee. It was given first reading.

The bill aims to give the provincial government power to bring into effect by proclamation any part of the Dominion Marketing Act.

ELIMINATION OF LOSSES THROUGH RESEARCH WORK

Toronto.—Elimination of an annual $200,000 loss to the wheat farmers of Manitoba and Saskatchewan has been effected by the research bureau of Canada through the development of strains of wheat which are immune to rust, according to Dr. H. M. Tory, head of the bureau.

Addressing the high school principals' section of the Ontario Educational Association here, Dr. Tory said the research, conducted by the council, the federal department of agriculture and the three prairie universities, cost only $250,000.

Since 1918, the total loss from black stem rust, he said, was $600,000,000. In 1924, research was started to overcome the tremendous loss. Within a short time, he said, new wheat strains would be distributed to the rust-infected areas.

"Recently, when I was challenged to justify the expenditures made, I stated I was prepared to demonstrate to any body of reasonable men that we had already repaid to the people of Canada, in work done, the total cost of the research council to date," he said.

Another successful research was in connection with the fishing industry of the Maritime provinces, he said. An annual loss amounting to $500,000 resulted from deterioration of the processed product, but the loss had been completely eliminated by the council at a cost of $50,000.

"Some years ago during a series of wet years a serious problem arose in Western Canada due to damp and tough grain being put on the market," Dr. Tory continued. "A consequent fall in price due to imperfect drying occurred."

"We joined the producers and dealers in an attack upon the problem, solved and eliminated a loss which was estimated some years as high as $3,000,000. A man prominent in the grain trade said to me the other day that this piece of work alone was worth more than the total cost of our research organization to date."

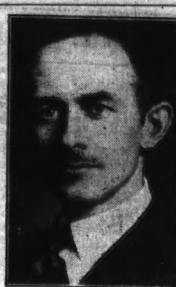

A National Responsibility

Hon. G. M. Weir Advocates More Centralization In Educational Control

Vancouver.—Education is being recognized as a national responsibility and the British North America Act is due for amendment to meet this principle, and for amendment without reference to the Imperial parliament, Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, British Columbia minister of education, told 1,000 delegates to the annual convention of the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Dr. Weir declared the federal government should pay half the cost for elementary education. He also suggested there should be greater centralization in educational control and control of educational finances and predicted that within 25 years, possibly 10, the B.N.A. Act would be amended to provide for these changes.

Advance In Science

Dr. Tory Criticizes Present Methods Of Education

Toronto.—Defence of the rapid strides in advancement of science and criticism of the present-day educational methods were made by Dr. H. M. Tory, head of the research bureau of Canada, in an address before high school principals at the Ontario Educational Association annual convention here.

Answer to the topic of his address, "Why science is worthwhile," said Dr. Tory, was in its effect on the intellectual life of the modern world; social well-being and material progress.

One of the great social problems of to-day, he said, was unemployment but "to claim scientific effort has resulted in over-production in a world where millions of people are for the moment suffering want is merely to acknowledge progress in producing a suitable economic structure, hindered as it has been by industrial stupidity and greed and by extreme nationalistic policies on the part of statesmen, has not kept pace with growth of knowledge and with the world's needs."

Tales Of The North

Miners Get Together And Recall Incidents Of Yukon Days

Quebec.—Vivid tales of the north country and the exploits of the Stourdebees who blazed the trail of the Klondyke and the Yukon in the days when men lived on snowshoes and women shared a plateful of beans with them in a rudely constructed hut in Canada's northern hinterland were recalled at the 35th annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy. Mining prospectors were at bat at the meeting. A number of symposiums on prospecting were delivered in which former pan-amers spoke of their trials and tribulations in early struggles to eke out a living.

Victoria, Premier T. D. Pattullo, announced that he would go to Ottawa this month to confer with the federal cabinet on British Columbia matters.

War On Bootleggers

Extend Powers Of Alberta Liquor Control Board

Edmonton.—With the object of giving battle to the bootlegger, the provincial government has brought down a bill in the legislature extending powers of the liquor control board.

One of the principal provisions gives the board power to extend the closing hour for vendors' stores, which is now 8 p.m., the purpose of this is to check the sales by bootleggers.

The new act also changes the present provisions as to $2 yearly and 50 cent single purchase permits. It provides for one class of permit, fees for which will be in the discretion of the lieutenant-governor-in-council. In all likelihood, the new fees will be much lower than those now required.

MOVE TO BOOST AND STABILIZE WHEAT PRICES

Rome.—World wheat experts gathered here for conferences that may write agricultural and economic history by boosting and stabilizing wheat prices through an international agreement and point the way to other recovery efforts.

Minimum quotations for wheat exports were considered the chief topic for discussion during the meetings, but legislative measures to increase consumption of wheat and the control of all shipments also were important items on the agenda.

The permanent advisory commission of countries signing an international wheat export limitation pact last year was represented as desirous of reaching a world agreement to raise the minimum export wheat price at least 25 per cent, and experts said that a boost of 30 or even 35 per cent. would be more welcome. The present world parity, based on the average price of all parcels of imported wheat of all grades sold during the week at British ports, is a little more than 40 gold cents a bushel.

If the advisory commission agrees to recommend a minimum price to the governments, and the nations agree, the minimum quotation will be about 55 gold cents.

A canvass by the Associated Press of the delegates showed the following reaction to the plan:

Great Britain favors it as a means of aiding agricultural exporting countries, including Canada and Australia.

France was one of those formally proposing the measure.

Germany, another of the original proponents, will support it. Argentine delegates were inclined to be skeptical regarding the practical possibilities of a minimum agreement in the belief that the control thereof will be difficult and evasions frequent.

The United States wants an international agreement on the reduction of wheat acreage as a preliminary to the minimum export price agreement, her argument being that a minimum price accord otherwise would discourage an acreage reduction.

Canada and Australia are the only countries whose internal wheat price equals the world export parity, and they favor a minimum quotation.

The French delegation suggested to the advisory commission that compensation in the way of increased exports of industrial and other products in return for a reduction of wheat acreage should be made importing countries.

This scheme, its advocates contended, would get the support of other importing countries, including Germany, Italy and Great Britain.

Canada, the world's greatest wheat exporter, is known to be ready to lead in fully implementing the August wheat pact. Under her recent Natural Products Marketing Act, wheat boards are to be set up in the wheat growing provinces, acting with a federal board, to license and restrict sales so that Canada's exports abroad will not exceed the maximum she accepted for the crop year 1934-35. This maximum is expected to be around 265,000,000 bushels, compared with the maximum of 200,000,000 for the expiring crop year.

The selection of John I. McFarland as the chief Canadian representative to Rome was interpreted as signifying Canada may again take the initiative she showed last August. McFarland is in charge of Dominion stabilization arrangements for the Winnipeg market.

WANT TO KNOW STAND U. S. WILL TAKE ON PACT

London.—The stand the United States would take if an attempt were made to punish a European violator of a disarmament treaty was the concern of British and League of Nations diplomats who conferred with Norman H. Davis, United States disarmament delegate.

Before Great Britain is willing to commit herself on proposals for punitive military and economic action she is interested in knowing if the United States would at least not interfere.

Any hope that a French demand for such guarantees will be universally acceptable was regarded as futile in British quarters, but on the other hand it was not clear how sanctions could otherwise be applied. The present lack of understanding between France and Britain on the nature of guarantees the Paris government demands was expected here in both British and League quarters to tie the hands of the world disarmament conference steering committee when it meets in Geneva.

Alberta Planning Bar On Outside Competition

Bill Has Received Its Second Reading In House

Edmonton.—Power to prevent outside competitors from entering the Alberta field is provided in "modified code" legislation being considered by the provincial legislature.

Tals was revealed by Premier Brownlee, speaking in the house on second reading of the Bureau of Trade and Industry Act, first legislation of the kind introduced in a western legislature.

The premier said the purpose of section 15 of the bill was to give power to prevent a similar business from entering Alberta and competing with those in business in this province.

New Northern Empire

Pioneer Prospector Visualizes Big Development In Mineral Areas

Edmonton.—Vast new empire in the far north with a population of 100,000 within the next 20 years is predicted by D'Arcy Arden, pioneer prospector, trader and explorer, who reached Edmonton by airplane from the Great Bear Lake mineral area.

Mr. Arden, who made the discovery of the new strike of pitchblende on Beaver Lodge Lake, 100 miles south of Cameron Bay, says this strike promises to be the richest yet uncovered in the entire northern mineral field.

Kitsilano Boys' Band

Western Aggregation To Make Tour Of England And The Continent

Vancouver, B.C.—Arrangements have been completed for the Kitsilano Boys' band to Vancouver to spend several weeks in England on tour this summer, with the prospect that engagements on the continent will also be filled.

The band, numbering about 45 members, will leave Vancouver on June 25 and play in Bath, Alta. Calgary, Swift Current, Sask., Moose Jaw, Sask., Winnipeg and Montreal, sailing from the latter port on July 6.

Compromise Farmers' Debts

Manitoba Bill Designed To Assist Agriculturists

Winnipeg.—A bill to "facilitate the compromise of farmers' debts" was given second reading in the Manitoba legislature.

Introduced by Hon. W. J. Major, attorney-general, the bill is in anticipation of Dominion legislation to provide an inexpensive cut out for farmers to go into bankruptcy in order to obtain downward revision of their debts.

The Manitoba bill, if enacted, will be supplemental to expected federal legislation.

Girl Guides For Switzerland

Toronto.—Girl Guide leaders of each of the Canadian provinces have been asked to recommend a first class Guide, aged 18, to the Canadian headquarters executive committee, for the selection of Canada's representative to the international encampment at the Guide chate, Adelboden, Switzerland, next July.

PATRIOTISM

As our closing article on Patriotism let us come right home. There is a vast difference in the ideals of different towns and communities. Go into some hamlets and ask any man in it where he thinks is the ideal place to live, and everyone will tell you, the town he lives in is the best, they are all good fellows living here, they will work together, etc. and he even boasts that the weather is more ideal and the sunshine brighter than any other town in the world.

When you talk to a man like that, or rather listen to him, it gives one a rather good feeling, even though he does not give you a chance to say what a fine town your own is.

In another town you will hear many brag about any other place on earth except that in which they live. The winter is cold, the summer hot, it is always cloudy when it rains, and when it does it is wet, if it doesn't rain he is dried to a cinder, etc., etc.

What is the difference? A great deal of life consists in a state of mind. And when we hear a man grumble or conditions in his town, without making any real attempt to remedy those conditions you may conclude that he is only discontented because he is not ionized as he would like, every service does not centre about himself.

Patriotism consists in what one may give for or to his country and not what he would like his country to do for him.

If the citizens of any town or district could agree to support the efforts of some leader who was endeavoring to start something for community welfare, there would be great advancement along the lines desired. But when each citizen wishes himself to be the self starver and refuses to endorse any scheme sponsored by someone else, his Patriotism is below par. If he asks the question, "what can I get out of this" instead of "what can my town get out of it" his patriotism is centred all in himself, and is sadly below par. The sacrifice of personal interest for the general good is the essence of patriotism and if followed by the members of any town or district will create a feeling of fellowship which will guarantee that town or district the best that circumstances permit.

The daily papers have for sometime filled their papers with the sensational story and comment on the case of Grigware alias Fahey.

That he may be given a pardon seems most likely at the time of writing, and we hope it will be so.

It does seem rather odd, however, that the public are so wrought up over a case of this kind when one stops to consider that if he was guilty in the first instance, he has for twenty-four years succeeded in deceiving the public and working out a successful getaway. Hundreds of thousands of other American and Canadian citizens who have been law abiding all their lives, without any penalty like life imprisonment hanging over their heads to keep them straight, have failed to get a line in the big dailies even though they have never broken even the game laws.

There are times when it would appear that virtue is its only reward and we are reminded of the remark of an old man we knew, who said it was a crime to steal a loaf of bread but if you make a good job, like stealing a railroad you would get a title for it.

THE COVENANT

"Come thou let us make a covenant" said Laban to Jacob. The invitation was given a long time ago. You may well call it "old stuff" but it has a real bearing upon the distressing conditions of to-day. It is a literal "land mark" in history and history is made out of "old stuff" written down for the benefit of those who follow on. Only children turn up their noses at it and reach for what they immediately want regardless of the consequences.

It is the devil's privilege to quote scripture as authority, distorting it for his purposes, but I have turned to the ancient dispute between Jacob and his uncle, not to secure authority for the rights of property but rather to illustrate the earliest steps in human progress. And again you may say "old stuff." You may tell me that covenants and titles to property and all that sort of thing were all right under normal conditions but are all wrong or, at least, impracticable in these times when conditions are not at all normal. Having in mind the direct object of our enquiry namely, farm credit, you will probably remind me of the position of the farmer who borrowed money when wheat was above the dollar level and now finds himself with a mortgage and wheat somewhere about fifty cents a bushel.

It was with that very condition in mind that I began at the beginning. The problem of one who owns what, with the relation of one's self to other selves, is as pressing today as it was in the days of Genesis while the main issues are not basically altered. The problem of "ownership" of land under mortgage is of special importance to Canadians because the country's national economy has been built largely around agriculture. Thought on the subject has been naturally confused by self-interest, but somewhere there must be truth in the tangled skein. We want it, if it is to be had.

Looking back it is apparent that human progress in material comforts did not begin until the rights of property had been recognized and measures had been taken for their observance. No sooner had men begun to settle down than they began to buy land and weigh out silver that they might call it their "own." Then they commenced to build and develop what they owned that, later on, they and their families might enjoy the fruits of their labor. Primitive men spent, or consumed, what they got from day to day with regard to the needs of the moment. Progress began only when men learned to save and expand what they saved. The proceeding made necessary a public recognition of what belonged to one man and what to another or, in other words, it involved the necessity of title.

It was not an easy thing to bring about respect for what belonged to others. Those men of Genesis were hot-blooded tribesmen wandering about the plains with herds and flocks and not at all disposed to recognize anything as belonging to anyone when they wanted it for themselves. Solemn ceremonies, designed to appeal to their sense of honour, were introduced by which men pledged themselves to respect their neighbor's belongings, and these ceremonies became known as covenants. Let us look at one in the making.

Jacob was quick to take up his uncle's offer. Setting up a stone as a pillar, he ordered his men to gather stones in a heap. And then "they did eat there, upon the heap." Laban explained the significance of the ceremony.

"This heap and this pillar," he said, "be a witness that I will not pass over this heap to thee and that thou shalt not pass over this heap and this pillar to me for harm."

The idea might have been expressed in fewer words but modern lawyers (and economists) have been known to say less with more words. However, the ceremony was not yet completed. Laban and Jacob then asked High Heaven to witness their obligations and swore oaths and also more bread before retiring each to "his place."

The making of a covenant was, indeed, a solemn business in those days, and yet, with all its solemnity, the covenant fell short of attaining its object. So long as men were not too heavily pressed by need they kept their given words, but when depressions came, and the pasture dried up and the corn failed, the tribesmen drove their herds and flocks beyond the pillars to take their neighbors feed and water. You, too, may see the parallel between ancient and modern times, will find your sympathy with the tribesmen who, with their flocks and herds, had multiplied beyond their sustaining resources when the sun parched the plains.

Cats A Menace

Many people keep a cat so that little Mary or Johnnie may have a pet. But how many of these would be kept, I wonder, if the disease-carrying proclivities of these cats was understood by the majority?

Cats are subject to the following diseases common to man: whooping cough, anthrax, ringworm, malleus, tape, worm, trachina, glanders, sleeping sickness, pulmonary distomatosis and Asiatic liver fluke. Evidence also shows that the cat has been known to carry to man, either mechanically on its fur, or by having the disease itself: diphtheria, bubonic plague, scarlet fever, amplex, mange and ringworm.

How many times have parents been mystified by the source of their infection? When the disease first appears in town, the child is forbidden to play with his friends but has to stay in his own yard and play with pussy. No thought is given to the scavenging habits of the cat which will prowling through garbage can and even the well fed cat does this, picking up tid-bits, and, incidentally, germs, which it promptly brings home and transfers to those who fondle it. Probably many cases of that dread disease, infantile paralysis are caused in this way.

What good do the cats do to offset this great danger? None! And nowadays we live in communities where the cats are populated to warrant a superabundance of any animal, be it cat, dog, bird, or pig. Favour should be given to those creatures which are doing the most good, and not to those which are doing the most harm.

Wedding Bells

OLSON — HENDERSON

A quiet wedding, attended by intimate friends, was solemnized in Grace United Church on Friday, March 30th, when Miss Thelma Henderson, of Paradise Valley, became the bride of Mr. Kai Erik Olson, also of Paradise Valley, Rev. M. Dobson, of Grace United Church, officiating. Mr. A. Hutchinson, of the bride's home, acted as best man, and Miss Polly Hulakump, of Lloydminster, was bridesmaid. The bride wore a lovely blue crepe gown, and carried a beautiful bouquet of Easter lilies with carnations and tulips. The dress of the bridesmaid was also of blue crepe. The bridegroom has for several years been in the employ of Mr. Hawson, at whose home a reception was held. The young couple are well known in the district and will reside at Paradise Valley. The best wishes of the community are extended to them.

GILT EDGE

The Committee on Health submitted the following report.

We our committee On Public Health Beg Leave to report as follows:

That the road to the Nuisance Ground is in such a bad condition that it is not safe to haul over it at night and we have had to pump the cesspools in the daytime. There has been some complaint about this but we hope the conditions of the roads will soon be such that this work can be done at night.

Just as soon as the spring thaw commences we will have all garbage removed from the lanes and the Town thoroughly cleaned. We would ask the co-operation of the citizens in this work to the extent that all boxes, paper and other inflammable material be burned in their incinerators and all manure removed by the owners.

All our equipment is in good condition except that a rear axle and roach will soon have to be replaced on one of the wagons. We have spoken to the two Dairy Men mentioned in the Provincial Health Officers report and they have both stated their intention to comply with his recommendations at an early date.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

On motion, the report of the Health Committee was accepted and incorporated in the proceedings of the meeting.

On motion, it was resolved that Council meet as a Court of Revision in the Council Chamber at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday, May 15th, 1934, to hear and try complaints against the assessment for the current year.

RIGHT!

THAT'S just what we've been wondering. How can any business man expect to attract a bigger trade when all he does is unlock the front door in the morning, roll up the shades and "wait for customers?"

The public doesn't buy that way. It wants to be "led to your bargains".....it wants to know WHAT they are and WHERE to find them before it goes shopping. In other words, your best bet is to—

Temptation And How To Overcome It

BY
T. EDGAR ARMSTRONG, B.A.; B.D.
Pastor Wainwright United Church

TEXT: Genesis 3: 1-5.

In these words we have an account of man's first temptation. Such a story holds our interest and palates with real life. Some one has defined temptation as the voice of evil where good is dominant. Here, we hear the insinuations of the evil one to our first parents as they launch out upon their moral career. They were not alone in their experience. All who have lived since have been exposed to temptation. I wish to make a few observations about temptation and suggest ways by which it may be overcome.

Temptation is a great universal fact of life. Every sermon is not equally interesting to all hearers. The preacher is often aware of inattentive faces, the yawn, the twither which may I have no particular interest in your sermon. When I come to speak on "Temptation" I have no one out. No two faces are exactly alike and our lives may be just as individual as our faces, but we are all alike here. Temptation like sorrow, pain and death is a universal fact of life. Further than this, it is individual. But that, I mean, that the same thing is not a temptation to all. The husband as he goes out to be the bread winner meets temptations. They differ from those of the mother who labors in the home, but she has temptations also. The young man, the young woman and the children have their temptations. There is no exception. No respect of persons. I lay down what ever ransom you may there is no possibility of buying yourself from temptation. You may be rich but for every door riches opens in the here of temptation. One struggle to live with only the thoughts of the lost minds and yet fall be ore the temptation of intellectual selfishness you may be miser but your position does not shield you from the tempter. In fact, it seems to me, you must come into tighter grips with him. You may refuse to "take yourself to the desert but that does not free you from temptation.

The story is told of St. Anthony, of Alexandria, who betook himself to the wilderness, but shortly after returned saying "The temptations of the city may be great, but they cannot compare with the temptations of the wilderness. There is no escape. Bunyan said 'The devil did not play in tempting one' Thos. A. Kemp "There is no order so holy, no place so secret but what temptations enter."

Even an apostle said "when I would be good evil is present with me." The perfect life was to be as few realize. We speak of our temptations in the wider sense, when hungered, as if that were the beginning and ending of temptation in his life. He said to his disciple "ye are in the world, but ye are not of the world." The tempter had not been chosen at the time of the recorded temptation, so life from the manger to the tomb was one scene of temptation. One struggle between his own will and that of His Father. He never got why it is we cannot escape temptation? Because the root of temptation is in ourselves. James 1: 13-14.

Say "Let no man say when he is tempted. I am tempted of God for God cannot be tempted with evil neither tempteth he any man. But every man is tempted when he is drawn away of his own lust and enticed."

When our impulse are aroused by the prospects of evil we are said to be tempted. Supposed evil speaks to us. We can never get away from temptation for we can never get away from ourselves. We carry our instincts with us. What a wise prayer to utter "Lead us not into temptation." Yes lead us into other places but save us from temptation. If you have visited an observatory you will have noticed that all the machinery which registers seismic movement is deep down in the ground as not to be affected by local disturbances, such as passing trains and trucks. I know of no such place in the moral world. I have not discovered such and believe it undiscoverable. God in His wisdom has planned that we must meet temptation.

After all temptation is God's workshop in which he makes men and women. The wind and storms give strength and fibre to the oak. Rain and sunshine are necessary if the flower is to have fragrance, symmetry and beauty. God is refined in a crucible. If our manhood is to be beautiful we must know what it is to battle long and hard with temptation.

In each temptation there are two possibilities that of defeat and that of victory and through victory strengthening.

"Why come temptation but for us to meet and win and thus be pedestalled in triumph." I presume we are all interested in Christian character. I so interpret your reading this sermon. Christian character is the nation's greatest asset. God, cannot build a society worthy of Himself and man without this quality. Character is acquired as we meet and overcome temptation. We learn to reinforce ourselves with God's power and grace.

The man who craves with the tide is on the road to destruction. The precipice is in the offing. But the man who faces the current, setting his sail forward is on the highway to manhood.

Now having recognized certain facts about temptation we pass to answer the question. How can I overcome temptation successfully? If there is no heaven except as I fight and win how can I fight and overcome.

Aid No. 1. Shun the first suggestion of evil. Someone has analysed sin (a) a suggestion of evil, (b) vivid imagination of it; (c) we have desire for it; (d) we yield. To successfully cope with temptation we must recognize it in its beginnings. While still only a potentiality.

Pope: "Vice is a monster of such frightful mien. As to be hated needs but to be seen. But seem too odd, familiar with her face."

We first endure, then pity, then embrace." The pity is we keep suggestions of evil hovering around and with complacency what at first we scorned. Familiarity did not breed the supposed contempt. We must nip sin in the bud, cast it away as deadly poison. Learn to say tempter "Get thee behind me. Thou savorst not the things that be of God."

Aid No. 2. Know yourself. The general who goes into battle without a knowledge of his men courts defeat. So a man should know his own moral and physical make up. The man who wants to be done with drink should not loiter around the beer parlor or keep it handy in his pocket. To do so is to play with fire. The man who wants something for nothing should keep away from the gambling joint. So we might go the whole round.

After all these are negative tactics. We need positive help. It is not to cease to do evil we must learn to do well. Christian living is not expressed in do's.

How do we get darkness out of a room. We cannot blot it out or sweep it out. We must pull the shades and let the light stream in. So we exclude and bar out sin by introducing good. Vice is supplanted by virtue.

Positive Aid. No. 1. Every one who wants to be victorious over sin, and temptation should have a definite Christian task. I cannot take time to discuss what constitutes a call but men do need to interpret their vocation as God given. Hymnists "Let none hear you idly saying there is nothing I can do." The old adage "Satan still has something for idle hands to do" is true. There is no mind or life so hard to enter as the preoccupied. Scripture tells of a house swept and garnished but re-occupied by seven devils. Work is an antidote against the inroads of evil.

The individual who keeps aloof in church work is creating defeat. One should launch out to a vigorous programme for God and society.

Aid No. 2. Place wholesome recreation.

The trend of events is towards more leisure. Large industrial firms interested in efficiency are planning the holiday term for their work men. They want them re-created by their leisure. Anyone in contact with real life knows the temptations which come to men to indulge in the period of relaxation.

How to pilot men past our festive seasons is the question in many a home. I fear that the church has not seen the relation between temptation and relaxation. We should plan wholesome recreation which re-creates men and sends them back into the game of life to play it better. Ennoblement through relaxation is essential. Play and worship must contribute to the enrichment of

Profits

Political observers in Ottawa believe that the evidence submitted to special committee on price spreads and mass buying has had "a profound effect in stirring up mistrust of big business among the general mass of citizens." There can be no doubt that a number of unscrupulous manufacturers have taken advantage of sweated labor. And nobody will be happier than the reputable business man to the corrective measure instituted.

It is equally certain that the vagueness of many of the accusations and the political prejudices of some of the committee members have created a feeling that business generally has been operated on unfair lines.

There is a tendency on the part of many to conclude that any employer who makes a profit must be a malefactor.

Without profit there can be no permanent employment. Granted it must be honest profit, but profit there must be.

The majority of business concerns throughout Canada are honest. Thousands of firms have played the game with their employees. There are thousands of executives who have labored day and night, who have made untold sacrifices, in order that their employees might be kept going.

Every day, the ordinary notices tell the story of some businessman who has cracked under the strain of maintaining his payroll.

There's another point too. No business can carry on indefinitely and labor its first share without a profit.

No government can carry on indefinitely without making ends meet. Unlike a private business, Governments can borrow millions from those who work for them—the taxpayers—in spite of balance sheets that would put any other enterprise into bankruptcy.

No Canadian Government has yet set up a commission of enquiry into that sort of unscrupulous practice. The British and Australian Governments did so and re-established their solvency.

By all means let there be legislation that will protect honest business from sweat-shop competition. And why not have public protection against unscrupulous government expenditures?

From the standpoint of national interest uncontrolled deficits are as bad as exorbitant profits.

—McLeans

life. Sunday is a rest day and should be used for the re-making of our higher life. A strong body offers greater resistance to disease and a lie with spiritual tone resists temptation.

Aid No. 3. Experience the benediction of good books.

I am sorry for the individual who has not felt the upward tug of a good book, who has not experienced inspiration through enlargement of vision as he in thought, scaled some height and let the noble thought of some good writer. Fill the mind with good thoughts and leave no room for the base and lurid.

I often think of Albert's drink bill. In the prosperous years we spent twenty dollars for every man, woman and child. Had we spent even half of that, upon good literature what beneficial results would be recorded. If U.S.A.'s record of one thousand cigarettes per year for every man, woman or child was made Ten dollars for good books it would be a more worthy goal. Beneficial results would be seen in a strong-minded well informed people.

And No. 4. After all things are not the greatest force in character building. Good friends mean more than money. Friendships have strengthened and saved many a life. Many a man confesses that life has been enriched by the companionship of a good wife. The converse of this true also many a boy has been helped by companionship of his trusted observatory.

I recall a friend telling me of an experience which he had. In the moment of temptation he felt the presence of his mother with him, though she was miles away. Because of her presence he resisted the temptation. If human friendship is to help what of the friendship of the Divine. We can live in such fellowship with Jesus Christ that He is always near. Closer than any earthly friend "Having been tempted and having overcome He is able to succor those who are tempted."

A mighty conflict is on. Summon every aid you can and supplement them with the friendship of Jesus Christ. The joy of the victor shall be yours.

Fashion Hint For Paris

Manchester Produces "Glass Dress" From Process Just Discovered
Manchester is teaching Paris a lesson in the arts of feminine fashions by producing the "glass dress" in which women sparkle as brilliantly as though they were wearing hundreds of tiny diamonds.

A group of chemists and engineers discovered the process, and new works at Gorton are already busy on the first orders for the glass-printed fabrics. The manager of the firm says: "Textile firms are sending us their cloth and we are printing glass and metal or silk or wool on it. The secret is in the ink."

"We have found a method by which, for example, powdered synthetic glass made into a liquid can be printed on to cotton or any other material and made so fast that it afterwards you wash, iron and boil the material, and scrub it for ten minutes with a nail brush you will not be able to remove the glass. The possibilities of these glass-printed fabrics are wide. They can be used for evening frocks, for shoes and hats, and for stage curtains and dresses. We can print the glass on to wood or leather, paper or cardboard. We can make clothes of gold and silver."

Warren Hastings was the first governor-general of India.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

BANANA TOAST

(Serves 6)

- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1 teaspoon orange rind (grated)
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 to 3 bananas
- 6 slices toast

Mix orange juice, rind and sugar well and pour over bananas which have been sliced. Spread banana slices on hot buttered toast, pouring any remaining orange juice mixture over them. Put in oven or under broiler to brown toast and soften bananas. Bananas should be spread with a knife over toast when taken from the oven. Serve at once. This makes a delicious toast suitable for serving at a tea. It is an excellent breakfast dish, which children especially like. It will also serve as a simple luncheon or supper dessert for children and grown-ups.

Gardening

For Variety Add A Few New Flowers To Your Garden This Year

It is a splendid idea to add a few new flowers to the list chosen every year. Without this little departure from the straight road, a garden will soon become stereotyped. Then, too, the season may not suit some old favorite or that favorite may require fresh ground in which to ease the actual amount of bloom begins to fall off. It is a mistake also, to base likes and dislikes on the flowers of a few years ago. In the last decade there has been amazing improvement in almost all flowers. Many of the singles now come also in double form and again some original doubles, like the asters, can to-day be secured in beautiful singles. Stems have been altered. Such things as the Zinnia, for instance, coming in dwarf, medium and giant size and this variation of spraying to bloom as well as plants. The modern Snapdragon, is another flower which would not be able to recognize its ancestor of only a few summers back. It comes in small, intermediate and tall types, and will bloom even after the first frosts in the fall. Cosmos is rather a common flower throughout a good deal of Canada, but not the Cosmos, unfortunately, that is listed in the seed catalogue of 1934. Here is a showy plant with single flowers three to four inches in diameter and doubles almost as big. Salpiglossis should not be omitted from the well-balanced flower garden. Its glorified Morning Glory-like flowers, come in rich reds, yellows and purples with splashes of gold. For bouquets, Salpiglossis along with Marigolds, of various sizes and color combinations, Scabiosa, Carnations, Sweet Sultan, Calliopsis, Zinnia and Cosmos, should not be overlooked.

The total number of vegetable varieties offered in Canada runs into the hundreds, but seedmen and commercial market gardeners agree on the following list for general use: Beans—Pencil Pod, Black Wax, Round Pod Kidney Wax, Stringless Green Pod, with Kentucky Wonder and Kentucky Green Pod as pole sorts; Beets—Early Wonder and Flat Egyptian for early use and Edmonds Blood Turnip and Detroit Dark Red for later; Cabbage—Golden Acre as a round headed first early; Cauliflower by Copenhagen Market and Enkhuizen Glory for mid-season and Danish Ballhead for winter storage; Corn, for earliest use Golden Gem and Golden Sunshine among the yellows, and Early Market and Early Corn in white; Golden Bantam is the standard for general use among the yellows and Stowell's Evergreen among the whites; Celery—Paris Golden early giant strain, for early use, Wonderful for the later crop and the original Paris Golden for winter storage; Cucumbers—Improved White Spine and Davis Perfect; Lettuce—Grand Rapids is one of the best leaf sorts while New York or Wonderful, Iceberg and Non-Pareil are the best of the head types; Mushrooms—Osgood, Golden Champlain and Bender's Surprise; Onions—Yellow Globe Danvers, Red Weatherhead, Prize Taker, Yellow Globe and Prize Taker Red Globe, among the standard sorts, while for early use plant Dutch sets; Peas—Laxton's Progress, Thomas Laxton and Laxtonia, are the best of the sorts, where it is advisable though not necessary to provide some support, and Little Marvel, and American Wonder among the dwarfs; Parsnips—Hollow Crown; Radishes—Scarlet Turnip White Tip, Saxa, and French Breakfast and Scarlet Globe, for early use and Icicle, a big white summer type; Spinach—Long Standing Juliana, which does not go to seed readily, and the Savoy leafed Bloomsdale; Swiss Chard—Lunellus, the leafy part of this vegetable is used like spinach all summer and the stem as asparagus; Tomatoes—Earliana, Bonny Best and Livingstone's Globe are standard sorts, and Grand Rapids and Sunrise for forcing or staking.

Aid For Saskatchewan Horse Breeders

Federal-Provincial Premium Policy Of Assistance To Horse Breeding

The Hon. W. C. Buckle, minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan, has made an announcement that is of great interest to the horse breeders of Saskatchewan. He states that the Federal-Provincial Premium Policy of Assistance to Horse Breeding will be put into effect in Saskatchewan this year on a modified scale.

This provides for the payment of a premium to choice, sound, outstanding stallions that are approved by the federal-provincial board for this season. The premium will be calculated on a basis proving to be in fact for these stallions at the rate of $4.00 for each, to a maximum of fifty, that is, not over $200 will be paid for the services of any one stallion. This policy is designed to benefit horse breeders, but the premium is payable to the stallion owner in order to enable farmers to make use of the service of a premium stallion at a moderate cost and thus raise a superior type of draft horse. The payment of premiums is shared equally between the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture, Regina.

The only stallions that are eligible for this premium are pure bred, registered stallions that are free from unsoundness, of outstanding type, conformation and quality, with true, straight action, possessing plenty of size, and three-year-olds in ordinary breeding condition, must weigh 1650 pounds or over, four-year-olds must weigh 1750 pounds or over, and mature horses must weigh 1850 pounds or over.

No stallion will be considered for the premium unless he is enrolled and licensed for 1934 under the Provincial Horse Breeders' Act.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JESUS TEACHES FORGIVENESS

Golden Text: "Forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors." Matthew 6:12.
Lesson: Matthew 18:15-35.
Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 13:1-8.

Explanation And Comments

How To Treat Offenders, verses 15-19. Jesus advised his disciples first to tell the offender of his fault, then to rebuke him in the presence of two or three others, and then, if he still gave no heed to their words, to tell his offense to the church. "When two or three are gathered in my name," he added, "there am I in the midst of them."

"Unlimited Forgiveness, verses 21, 22. Peter's question, 'Lord how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him?' followed naturally. 'Until seven times,' Peter suggested. Peter heard glowed with complacency, for he was not ready to go much farther in forgiveness than was the ordinary man. Did not the Talmud say: 'When a man sins against another, that other forgives him once, he forgives him a second time, he forgives him a third time, but the fourth time he does not forgive him?'

"No," answered Jesus, 'I tell you not until seven times, but until without number until seventy times seven.' 'Seven was with the Jews the number of perfection. When time has run through seven days, it begins again; the circle is complete. So no expression could more forcibly convey the impression of endless, ever-renewed, eternal iteration than 'seventy times seven.' (Markus 16:7). Magnanimity is not calculating; there is no place for arithmetic in the grace of forgiveness, or, as Dr. J. J. Gresham says, 'to give to a number where the scaling power of arithmetic retires with wearied wing.'

"O man! forgive thy mortal foe, Nor ever strike him blow for blow; For all the souls on earth that live, To be forgiven must forgive. Forgive him seventy times and seven."

For all the blessed souls in heaven Are both forgivers and forgiven."

—Tennyson.

Peter himself was an illustration of the grace of unwearied forgiveness. He was the first to be forgiven again. Dr. J. D. Jones says Peter after Christ's death fancying to himself, "O to grace, how great a debtor, daily I'm constrained to be," and again and again taking himself to task and preaching a sermon of comfort and hope to downcast and despairing souls.

Little Journeys In Science

OCEAN DEPTHS

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Much has been written about the conquering of Mount Everest and other great mountain peaks but few people have interested themselves in the other extreme in nature, the deepest depths of the ocean. Mount Everest in the Himalayas is some 29,000 feet high, but in the Swire Deep, off the island of Mindanao—in the Philippines, the sea is 32,088 feet in depth. The average depth of the ocean is considered to be about 12,600 feet, or nearly two and a fourth miles.

Little sunlight goes down farther than 1000 feet, and below that level there is utter darkness, and the water is so cold that were it fresh, and at the surface, it would freeze. No plant life exists here, but there are many fish, who depend for their food solely on particles that come down from the surface of the sea. These fish live where the pressure of the water is two tons to the square inch. Because their tissues are so porous that they absorb sufficient water to balance the pressure on the outside, these fish are quite at home with that tremendous force pounding on them from all sides.

Fish living in these ocean depths have one peril that no other living creature, the danger of falling upwards. If these fish rise too far above the bottom of the sea, the gas in their swim-bladders expands, and they are forced towards the surface when the bladder bursts or the fish "explodes".

Even the most severe storms do not disturb the water to a depth of more than 500 feet, so the deeps are always still, dark and cold. Strange fish cruise around in the depths and occasionally there comes to rest a dead whale or some other saturated object from the higher levels.

OCCASIONAL WIFE

By
EDNA ROSS WEBSTER
Author of "Jovelia," "Lipstick Girl," Etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Bowman and Weiss, an advertising agency, where Camilla has submitted some of her work, send for her and tell her they have a new account which requires unusual treatment of juvenile art. The critics were enthusiastic about her work, and Mr. Weiss offers her a salary of $50.00 a week to start and a prospect of having it doubled. She tells Peter of her good fortune in securing employment. Mrs. Hoyt is also informed that Camilla has obtained work and is going to leave the Hoyt household. Avis Werth rents a studio on the same floor as Peter, and invites him to have lunch there. He accepts reluctantly, but is favorably impressed with his visit. Camilla agrees to accept some of her earnings to help him along, but Peter refuses and they quarrel.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XXXVIII

She remained with him for another hour, striving to find the magic word or gesture that would break this spell of their disenchantment, but he remained aloof and impersonal. There was no ecstatic hour of murmured endearments and close embraces, while they discussed their work and hopes and plans. There was no deeply poignant meeting of blue and brown eyes, smothered with wordless meanings.

She might have been any girl who had stopped in and interrupted his work, any girl whom he would have dismissed with a curt "Go away," a "not too gracious manner—except for the first ten minutes which had been followed by their quarrel. Their farewell was like an act in a play which they had rehearsed too many times to find anything new, and Camilla walked out into the mellow autumn sunshine, feeling nothing; oblivious of sounds and feeling paralyzed. She avoided traffic by instinct and boarded the right car from habit. Nothing mattered.

Her world had turned upside down, she and Peter had said unkind words to each other, their eyes had avoided each other's in shame instead of meeting with sympathy. Somehow they had lost that precious, happy intimacy which had made any hope possible and every denial a promise.

Her eyes stared out the window at the passing landscape. Buildings, houses, trees, lamp posts, were blurred like a photograph that was badly out of focus. No object was distinguishable.

When Camilla had gone, Peter sank into a chair and dropped his head into his hands. In his posture was all the weariness and despair of his whole past. Never had life seemed so futile and ambition such a mockery. He might have known it would be like that, he told himself bitterly. Camilla had made practical use of her talent and she was free was offering to take care of him. He was a dreamer who couldn't even take care of himself.

He believed it was his pride that was hurt because he couldn't support the woman he loved, but it was just common human jealousy which was in Peter's mind. Only the deadly poison of jealousy could so distort both love and pride. But the most malignant factor in jealousy is that it cannot be admitted, and therefore is difficult to cure.

The more Peter brooded over his situation, the more he was aware of his wrath settled upon Camilla because she was the object of his jealousy and of his overwhelming desire to succeed at the same time.

A light knocking at the door startled him violently, so deeply was he sunk into the absorbing quickness of despair. He arose with a start and thought, "Camilla has come back to try to make it right. Well, she can't. I'm sick of it all."

If Past 45 and "Low" and Upset Look for Acid Stomach

HERE ARE THE SIGNS:
Nervousness
Frequent Headaches
Indigestion
Loss of Appetite
Nausea
Auto-Intoxication

TAKE—A teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is a glass of water every morning when you are feeling low. And another before you go to bed. It's a safe, gentle, and effective way to get rid of each sign of acid stomach.

If you have Acid Stomach, don't worry about it. Follow the simple directions given above. This small amount of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia acts at once to neutralize the acids that cause headache, stomach pain and other distress. Try it. You'll feel like a new person.

But—be careful you get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, or Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets when you buy—25c and 50c sizes.

The knocking was repeated, more imperative. He called crossly, "Come in."

The door opened and his hostile eyes met the pleasant greeting in Avis'.

"Hello, everyone," she called cheerfully, then stopped with an inquiring glance around the room. "Oh, I thought Camilla was here. I ran in to ask you both to have a little supper with me. I'm alone—and lonely." She laughed, without misgiving. "Didn't I hear her come in early this afternoon?"

"Yes, she was here," Peter replied tensely, and added, "but she had to leave early."
"Well, it's a good thing I came over in time to pull you out of your gloom. Another half hour and you would pass out." Her banter concealed her own suspicions of the situation and her good humored encouragement. "All the more reason, then, why you should have supper with me, anyway. That's just one of the disadvantages of having a genius for a wife. Of course, she can't afford to spend all her time chirping you up."

"Oh, I'm all right," he insisted, smothering back the bright, disordered curls with a big, shapely hand. "Tired, I guess."

"Of course, you are. You're worked all day, haven't you? Come along."

He obeyed meekly. Following Avis across the hall had got to be something of a habit. Rather a pleasant habit, too.

Avis was a clever actress. To prove that she had anticipated two guests for supper, she removed one of the plates from the table that was laid for three. She also talked easily and sprightly while she served Peter unobtrusively. Here was a "riff within the lute" of Peter's marriage, and she drove her wedge in cautiously. She restored his tranquility, made him comfortable and entertained him quietly. Just what he needed.

When they left the table, Avis suggested without insistence, "You surely don't need to work tonight. You should rest. Sit down and be comfy for awhile. Is your piece almost finished?" She turned the volume low on the radio, and a sentimental voice crooned, "You take me to Paradise." Then she lit a cigarette and held it to his lips. He took it with an amused laugh. She fired another for herself and dropped down lightly on the opposite end of the divan, arranging the pillows for her comfort.

It was strange how Avis, nervous and pampered and indulged, found relief.

Young children easily catch cold. So Mrs. Russell Ward, of Hilton Beach, Ontario, says: "If I notice that there is any sign of a cold I give Baby's Own Tablets and they are a great help. Thousands of mothers do the same and only for colds but for restlessness, indigestion, constipation, colic, and all the ills of infancy. her greatest pleasure in serving and humoring this young giant who looked as if he had been made to struggle with physical force instead of molding bits of clay. The ignominy of love—that makes servants of parasites and weaklings of slaves. He blew smoke into space, with contentment. "Yes, I'll finish this week. I had planned to have it bronzed before sending it to the exhibit," pensively.

"Of course, you should. Why not?" "That costs money," he replied, after a moment's hesitation, and met her glance defiantly. "So, I'll enter it as it is."

"Don't be absurd," she reproved him gently. "What's a little saving like that, if it hurts your chance to win?"

"I can't save what I don't have," he said, emphatically.

"Well, wouldn't it pay you to borrow money on a chance like this? Besides, supposing that you don't win the prize, you can put it into marble and sell it as you suggested before."

He made a gesture of hopelessness. "Who is going to loan money to a fellow who has made a clay figure on the chance?" It will win him a prize or that he might copy it in marble and perhaps find a buyer for it? That's all the collateral I have to offer. Did you ever hear of a financier who would take such a long chance as that?"

"A better guarantee would be your talent and ambition," she suggested.

He laughed ironically. "Who would believe that I had anything so valuable as that?"

"I know you have," Her eyes held his gaze, significantly.

"Oh—that!" he dismissed the implication of her words, listlessly. And added presently, "Funny how the women insist upon taking care of me. What's the matter with me, anyway?"

"Women?" Avis asked vaguely.

"Oh, Camilla and I just had a row about this afternoon," he confessed hesitantly. "She wanted me to let her help me with my money. Of course, she isn't making a fortune, but I guess she could spare a little. She thinks I should accept it, but what kind of a fellow wants his wife to keep him even if he is trying to do something worthwhile? That wasn't in our agreement in the first place."

Avis smiled, but managed to keep her voice matter-of-fact and as impersonal as if she were answering to a stranger. "She wanted me to let her help me with my money. Of course, she isn't making a fortune, but I guess she could spare a little. She thinks I should accept it, but what kind of a fellow wants his wife to keep him even if he is trying to do something worthwhile? That wasn't in our agreement in the first place."

"I think you are both right, under the circumstances. I see her point exactly." Avis was shrewd, "—but I also see yours."

"I'm glad somebody does," he shrugged. "Well—that's that! What I think I had better do is to get a good honest job and go to work at something that leads to gold at the magic touch of toll."

"At what?"

"That's it—what. And where? Job being the least plentiful thing in the world just now, that complicates the problem even better."

"Then don't be lazy, Peter. Let me tell you something. Will you listen?"

"With both ears," he grinned.

"I'm beginning to believe the supposition is true that genuine artists haven't a grain of business sense—you being the first and best example I know."

"Is that all you have to tell me? I know that already," disdainfully.

"Well, that's a good start. You admit the truth. Then, see here! Did you ever see that so business men are ever founded on hope and ambition and ability, alone? Every success has to have a financial foundation. Yet of all the stupid people in the world, artists imagine that they are not self-made men, but independent of all the rest of the world. Is that sense?" she demanded.

"Put into words, it doesn't sound practical," Peter admitted. "But what else can they do? You think I should take my wife's money, say? Absolutely not. No more than a man with a lot of pride would take his wife's money to go into any business. But he would borrow money and sell stock for a foundation, and then set to work to make good. Your talent and your future are just as good as any business, and if you were as practical as you are artistic, you would borrow money to secure your peace of mind and a

Peter sighed. "I had hoped to make it alone."

"You are stubborn, aren't you?" Avis smiled.

"No one else needs to be," she replied calmly, "with lighting another cigarette. I have money to invest, and right now I don't know a safer place to put it than in the career of Peter Anson, famous American sculptor of the future!"

With common hopes and laughter, griefs and tears,
Of lives so close that one has often caught
The other's heart, while it was but a thought.

Age knows of fierce rebellion crushed by length of time,
Of love that gains in tenderness and strength
As decades pass, of problems shared and solved;
Age knows of these true marriage is

Equette of Pigeons

London Birds Form Queue To Take Turns At Bath.

Behind the exchange in London on the Threadneedle Street side, there is a drinking fountain, with a tiny trough at its foot for dogs to drink from, just large enough to accommodate one pigeon. On many days, when there is a chance of drying after a dip, 20 or 30 pigeons suddenly swoop upon the fountain. The queue extends back over the edge of the step. The pigeons are not content to drink, but curve round corners like a theatre queue. One or two formidable pigeons marshal the ranks. The first pigeon enters the trough, splashes through it, and emerges dripping on the left side, where he waits to watch the fun. Bird after bird follow, and the smallest effort to disobey bath etiquette is instantly punished. The two "policemen," as the bank messengers call the senior pigeons, drag out any pigeon who tries to linger beyond reason in the water.

A woman's idea of a fatterer is a man who says nice things to other women.

WHY ASPIRIN WORKS SO FAST
Drop an Aspirin Tablet in a glass of water. Note that FOR IT touches bottom, it has started to dissolve. What it does in this glass it does in your stomach. Hence its fast action.

Little Helps For This Week

"We have waited for the Lord and He will save us; this is the Lord; we have waited for Him and we will be glad in His salvation." Isaiah 25:9.

Best are the humble souls that wait
With sweet submission to His will,
Harmonious, all their passions
And in the midst of storms are still.

Do not be discouraged at your faults, bear with yourself in correcting them as you would with your neighbor. Lay aside this ardor of your mind which exhausts your body and leads you to commit errors. Accustom yourself gradually to pray longer into all your daily occupations. Speak, move, work in peace, as if you were in prayer, as indeed you ought to be. Do everything without excitement, by the spirit of grace. As soon as you perceive your natural impetuosity gliding in, retire quietly within where there is the kingdom of God. Listen to the leadings of grace, then do and say nothing but what the "Holy Spirit" will put into your heart. You will find that you will become more tranquil, that your words will be fewer and more effectual, and that with less effort you will accomplish more good.—Penelon.

An Old Swedish Custom

Nation Has Grown Catnip Since Crown Princess Set Fashion

A reviewer of an Englishwoman's garden book says: "Shon apparently is now interfered with the English gardener's winter planning. And then, such strange things catch the English gardener's fancy. Would it, for instance, make you want catnip in your garden if you were told that the Princess Margaret, daughter of the Duke of Connaught, took a plant of catnip with her when she became the crown princess of Sweden and that since then every loyal Swede gently tends a bed of catnip, like as not a lineal descendant of the royal origin?"

"What is the difference between valor and discretion?"
"Well, to travel on an ocean liner without tipping would be valor."
"I see."
"And to come back on a different boat would be discretion."

I WORE MYSELF OUT RUBBING AND SCRUBBING UNTIL I USED

It actually Washes the Dirt Away...

WHY make hard work out of household tasks... with Gillett's Pure Flake Lye you can wash the dirt away! Just use a solution of 1 teaspoonful dissolved in a quart of cold water. It makes your home spotless without rubbing and scrubbing!

Have Gillett's Pure Flake Lye handy whenever there's any heavy cleaning to be done. Use it to get rid of toilet-paper stains, too—and for clearing stoppered-up drain pipes. Kills germs and destroys odors as it cleans. Get a tin of Gillett's Pure Flake Lye today. At your grocer's.

*Never dissolve lye in hot water. The action of the lye itself heats the water.

FREE BOOKLET—Be sure to get a copy of the new, revised edition of Gillett's Lye Booklet. Tells you dozens of ways to keep your house spotless... how to make heavy housework easy. Also contains full directions for soap making, thorough cleaning and other uses on the farm. Address Standard Brands Limited, Fraser Avenue & Liberty Street, Toronto, Ontario.

A Streamlined Bullet

War Office Experts Taking keen Interest In Tests

A new streamlined bullet was tested on the Blaise ranges recently, in which war office experts are taking the keenest interest. Skilled riflemen showed that they could place shots on the target within two feet of each other at 1,000 yards and the wind had 25-per-cent less effect on the bullets than on the old-style bullets. The new bullet has a range of more than 5,000 yards as against the 3,000 yard range of the old bullet. It is made of a secret alloy.

Mrs. W. G. Pigeon left on the slier Friday night for Amherstburg, Ontario, following receipt of word that her mother was very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Gatchell, of Sudbury, Ontario, who have been touring through various coast cities, paid a visit to their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Chynoweth, enroute to their homes in the east.

Fr. McGrane and Maurice Dupre were both operated on for tonsils at the local hospital last week.

Miss Flo Dixon is visiting friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wilkie who have been spending the winter visiting their old home in Grangemouth, Scotland, returned home on Thursday. Mr. Wilkie expressed himself as very glad to be back having had a rather unfortunate time away. He had a painful accident, falling on the street and breaking his wrist. He also reports that prices of food is lower in Scotland than here.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Hannah on Thursday, April 8th, when some eighteen members and one visitor were present. There was an unusual amount of business transacted after which the April hostesses, Mesdames Dean and Hannah served lunch. The next meeting will take place April 10th at home of Mrs. H. Mabey, weather permitting.
